• Who is Robert Ripley?

The Ripley story begins on Christmas Day in 1893, when Robert Leroy Ripley was born in Santa Rosa, California. A talented self-taught artist, Ripley sold his first drawings to Life magazine when he was only 14! Ripley was also a natural athlete who longed for a career in baseball, but his dreams of pitching in the big Leagues were shattered when he broke his arm while playing his first professional game. After the accident, Ripley returned to his earlier goal of becoming a professional artist. He landed a job as a cartoonist covering sports for the San Francisco Chronicle, but soon after, he left California and headed for New York City.

Travel was Robert Ripley's lifelong obsession. During his career, he visited 201 countries, traveling a distance equal to 18 complete trips around the world! In 1920, he made his first trek across Europe. Two years later, he visited Central and South America and wrote about what he saw in a syndicated feature column called "Rambles Around South America". He was drawn to the Orient in 1925, crossing through Japan, Malaysia and the Philippines. Ripley felt most at home in China. He found Chinese culture to be fascinating, and adopted certain Chinese customs. When he entertained, he often greeted his guests in traditional Oriental costume. He presided over elaborate feasts in which he described the dishes of each course in precise detail, and at one point he even signed his cartoons "Rip Li"!

Ripley was called "The Modern Day Marco Polo." His travels took him to North Africa and Morocco, New Zealand, Tibet, New Guinea and Russia. On one trip he crossed two continents and covered over 24,000 miles from New York to Cairo and back again- in search of the unbelievable. The journey included 15,000 miles by air, 8,000 by ship and over 1,000 miles by camel, donkey, and horse!

Ripley Scavenger Hunt

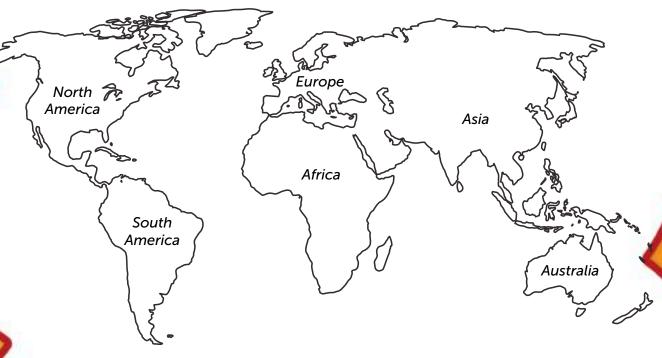

Travel the world with Mr. Robert Ripley through our Ripley's Believe It or Not! Museum. See how many of the following exhibits you can find on your travels. Then, use the map on page 4 to locate the city or country the exhibit came from. Write the number of the exhibit on the map. When you are finished, pretend that you are a "Modern Day Mr. Ripley." Write about which country you would travel to and tell what amazing artifacts or cultural traditions you would find there. Explain why you picked that area of the world.

Which country would you travel to?

What amazing artifacts or cultural traditions would you find here?

Why did you pick this area of the world?

Culture

One of the things that makes the planet earth such an interesting place to live is the wide variety of cultures found throughout the world.

The word 'culture' means, "The patterns of behavior and thinking that people living in social groups learn and create." Discuss cultural diversity in your class. What exhibits did you see at the Ripley's Believe It or Not! Museum that reflect the uniqueness of a culture? Using the Internet or resources in your school's media center, research the following cultures and fill in the chart about what makes their culture unique.

	Jivaro Indians	Ubangi	Samurai	Dani

Math Activities

- Ripley's Believe It or Not! Odditoriums defy the laws of logic!
 Builders have, throughout the ages, built structures that also defy logic, from the Colosseum in Rome to modern day oil rigs.
 Now, it's your turn to defy reason. Using basic mathematical measurements, logic and whatever supplies you can get your hands on, build your own Ripley's Believe It or Not! In the past, Ripley's exhibits have been created out of jellybeans, bread, paper bags, and match sticks. Use your imagination, but the project must be three-dimensional. Follow the steps below to complete your Ripley's project:
 - a. Draw out your plan. Your future structure must be drawn to scale and a plan for its construction written in detail. Include a list of supplies.
 - b. Set a timeline for completion of the steps of your project.
 - c. Begin construction.
- When you complete your construction, photograph your creation and set up a display in your school. If you think your project has a place in the Ripley's collection, submit it to your local museum!

Math Mania - Ripley's Style!

- Mr. Ripley once received 2.5 million pieces of fan mail in two weeks. How many pieces of mail would that be?
 - a. Per day? _____
 - b. Per hour? _____
 - c. Per minute? _____
- If all the Ripley's books ever published were stacked one on top of the other, they would be 100 times as tall as the Empire State Building. Do some research!...
 - a. How tall would that be? _____
 - b. If each book was .75 inches thick, how many books would that equal?
- The Titanic sank 2.5 miles down to the ocean floor. If the Empire State Building is 1250 feet tall, how many Empire State Buildings would you have to stack to stretch from the sunken Titanic to above water?
- The John F. Kennedy Computer Keys
 Portrait consists of 2,895 keyboard letter keys. If a standard computer keyboard has 104 keys, how many keyboards did it take to create the JFK portrait?

Word Power

Find the following words on your travels throughout the Believe It or Not! Museum. See if you can understand the meaning of the word from the exhibit and write the meaning beside the word below. If you cannot derive the meaning of the word from the exhibit, use the reference materials in your classroom or library and write the definitions.

ODD IS IN - Bullies are OUT!

Robert Leroy Ripley was many things to many people. He was an artist, an entrepreneur, and a world traveler. He spent much of his adult life traveling the globe searching for exciting new cultures, rituals, and people! One thing Robert Ripley was not was a bully. Through his travels, Ripley met some of the most interesting people from around the world. People who were tall, short, big, small, some who ate bugs, some who pierced their bodies with bone, and others who had spent their lives being ridiculed for their physical differences. He met women with full beards, men whose faces were entirely covered with hair, people that were over 8 feet tall, and those who were barely more than two feet tall. In the end, Robert Ripley welcomed them all into his home, on board his ship, and into every fiber of his life. In fact, he made them his life.

Ripley was very protective and caring towards those who were "different" than what our society says that they should be. In those day, sideshows featured what they called "Freaks." Ripley would have none of that. To this day, the word has been banned from the company's vocabulary. Our entire company is founded on the principle that all people are created equal and deserve to be treated as such. We should learn to appreciate the fact that all people are not the same and celebrate these differences rather than exploiting them or abusing those who differ in appearance. We hope that you will utilize these lessons in an effort to help children come to accept and celebrate all people from all walks of life. After all, we at Ripley's believe that 'ODD IS IN!'
